

Each year, hundreds of families hear the devastating words, "Your child has DIPG, and there is no cure."

Eleven years after losing our son Chad, we know that heartbreak all too well — and we know it's still happening far too often. These children's lives matter, and their futures should not be limited by a lack of answers.

Your support at this event drives innovative research forward and wraps families in care through our My DIPG Navigator program, providing guidance, resources, and connection when they need it most.

At our 4th annual gathering, I'll share how your generosity is turning urgency into action. You'll spend the day connecting, shopping, and enjoying time with friends — all while helping change what's possible for kids facing this disease.

Together, we can accelerate progress, expand support, and bring hope where it's needed most. We will keep pushing forward until better treatments — and ultimately a cure — are within reach.
